11 (collectively, "Plaintiffs") and Defendant City of Brea ("Brea").<sup>1</sup> The Court 12 concludes that this matter is appropriate for resolution without a hearing. See 13 Fed. R. Civ. P. 78; L.R. 7-15. Having considered the moving papers,<sup>2</sup> and in the 14 absence of any opposition, the Court orders that the Motion is GRANTED, as

16 I. BACKGROUND

17 Plaintiffs and other similarly situated individuals are current or former 18 Brea Fire Department Employees and members of the Brea Firefighters' 19 Association ("BFA").<sup>3</sup> Plaintiffs commenced this action in December 2022
20 under the Fair Labor Standards Act (the "FLSA") to recover from Brea 21 "unpaid overtime and other compensation, interest thereon, liquidated

25 Prejudice (the "Motion") [ECF No. 25].

26 <sup>2</sup> The Court considered the documents of record in this action, including 27 the following papers: (1) Compl. (the "Complaint") (including its attachments) [ECF No. 1]; and (2) Motion (including its attachments).

1 damages, costs of suit, and reasonable attorney fees.”<sup>4</sup> Plaintiffs allege that Brea 2 excluded certain remunerations and undervalued the “regular rate” of pay by 3 failing to include certificate incentive payments, failing to include retroactive 4 pay, and failing to include cash-in-lieu of health care.<sup>5</sup> Plaintiffs also contend 5 that Brea’s flexible benefit plan is not a “bona fide” plan; that Brea failed to 6 compensate for all overtime hours worked by implementing a payroll practice of 7 undercounting the number of overtime hours regularly worked under the 48/96 8 schedule; and that Brea’s violations of the FLSA were knowing and willful.<sup>6</sup> 9 The Complaint asserts one claim for relief: FLSA—Failure to Pay All Overtime 10 Compensation Earned.<sup>7</sup>

11 In June 2023, the parties filed a joint stipulation to certify this matter 12 conditionally as a collective action under 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), consisting of all 13 joined Plaintiffs.<sup>8</sup> The Court approved the conditional certification.<sup>9</sup>

14 Under the Settlement Agreement and Release, the parties agreed to settle 15 this matter for $837,500.<sup>10</sup> That sum includes all amounts paid by Brea to 16 Plaintiffs for unpaid overtime, liquidated damages, attorneys’ fees, and costs to 4 to Plaintiffs' counsel for Plaintiffs' reasonable attorneys' fees and $19,199 for 5 Plaintiffs' costs in the action.<sup>13</sup> Brea and the BFA executed a Side Letter

8 effective immediately upon the Court's approval of the settlement agreement.<sup>14</sup> 9 Plaintiffs agree to release all overtime claims against Brea under any legal theory

8 III. ANALYSIS

9 A. Approval of Settlement

10 1. Bona Fide Dispute

11 “A bona fide dispute exists when there are legitimate questions about ‘the 12 existence and extent of Defendant’s FLSA liability.’” Id. at 1172 (citing 13 Ambrosino v. Home Depot. U.S.A., Inc., 2014 WL 167189 (S.D. Cal. Apr. 28, 14 2014)).

15 Here, the parties contend that the “Settlement Agreement resolves 16 several bona fide disputes between the Parties that all necessarily affected the 17 existence and extent of [Brea’s] liability.”<sup>16</sup>

18 The parties dispute the applicable statute of limitations.<sup>17</sup> Plaintiffs argue 19 that, because Brea’s violations of the FLSA were willful, the statute of 20 limitations was extended to three years.<sup>18</sup> But Brea “disagreed, asserting only a 21 two-year statute of limitations applied.”<sup>19</sup> The parties also dispute whether 22 Plaintiffs are entitled to liquidated damages.<sup>20</sup> While Plaintiffs contend that

28 <sup>20</sup> Motion 14:8.

1 Brea did not act in good faith, Brea maintains that it reasonably believed that its 2 conduct complied with the FLSA.<sup>21</sup> Further, the parties dispute the method to 3 calculate FLSA liability.<sup>22</sup> Plaintiffs asserts that their “damages should be 4 calculated based on the method for salaried, non-exempt employees prescribed 5 in 29 C.F.R. section 778.113, which uses the regularly scheduled hours as the 6 divisor to determine the ‘regular rate’ before making the time and one-half 7 calculation.”<sup>23</sup> However, Brea contends that “Plaintiffs are only entitled to the 8 calculation methodology set forth in 29 C.F.R. section 778.110(b), which uses all 9 hours worked (including overtime hours) to calculate the ‘regular rate,’ and only 10 applies the ‘regular rate’ to the premium (i.e., 0.5) portion of the overtime 11 hours.”<sup>24</sup> Finally, the parties dispute the extent to which Brea may claim credits 12 for contractual overtime payments in a given work period.<sup>25</sup>

13 In view of those disagreements, the Court concludes that bona fide 14 disputes exist between the parties. Those disagreements show that there is 15 “some doubt” that Plaintiffs would succeed on the merits. Selk, 159 F. Supp. 3d 16 at 1172 (citation omitted). Those disagreements also affect the “extent” of 17 Brea’s liability. See id. For example, if liquidated damages are denied, then 18 Plaintiffs’ range of recovery would be reduced by 50%,<sup>26</sup> and, if Brea’s method 19 for calculating FLSA liability prevailed, then “Plaintiffs’ damages for 20

1 unscheduled overtime would be reduced by approximately 70%.”<sup>27</sup> Therefore, 2 bona fide disputes exist between the parties.

3 2. Fair and Reasonable Settlement

4 The “following factors should be considered when determining whether a 5 settlement is fair and reasonable under the FLSA: (1) the plaintiff’s range of 6 possible recovery; (2) the stage of proceedings and amount of discovery 7 completed; (3) the seriousness of the litigation risks faced by the parties; (4) the 8 scope of any release provision in the settlement agreement; (5) the experience 9 and views of counsel and the opinion of participating plaintiffs; and (6) the 10 possibility of fraud or collusion.” Selk, 159 F. Supp. 3d at 1173. The Court 11 assesses each factor in turn.

12 a. Plaintiffs’ Range of Possible Recovery

13 “A district court evaluates the plaintiff’s range of potential recovery to 14 ensure that the settlement amount agreed to bears some reasonable relationship 15 to the true settlement value of the claims.” Id. at 1174. The parties contend that 16 the settlement provides Plaintiffs with a fair and equitable recovery, especially in 17 view of the risks presented by continued litigation.<sup>28</sup>

18 Brea will pay Plaintiffs $628,125 in unpaid overtime and liquidated 19 damages. “The allocation of the total payment amount to Plaintiffs ranges from 20 $1,171.78 to $79,531.68.”<sup>29</sup> Plaintiffs’ counsel’s calculations were used to 21 determine the allocation of the total payment amount in wages and liquidated 22 damages.<sup>30</sup> Individual allocations were calculated based upon “the most 23 favorable assumptions” by using the maximum Relevant Statutory Period and a 24

1 1.5 multiplier.<sup>31</sup> Unscheduled overtime was calculated using “the contract 2 definition of overtime hours which exceeds the FLSA definition of overtime 3 hours.”<sup>32</sup> Scheduled overtime was “calculated at the maximum possible 4 amount regardless of whether leave was taken in the pay period that the 5 scheduled overtime accrued.”<sup>33</sup> Those “formulas significantly exceed the 6 maximum recovery available under the FLSA.”<sup>34</sup>

7 Each Plaintiff’s annual total for Certificate Incentive, Bonus, and Cash-in-8 Lieu payments was divided by 2,912 hours (the total number of hours each 9 employee was scheduled to work under the Memorandum of Understanding).<sup>35</sup> 10 Some moderate adjustments were made: specifically, modifications were made 11 to the hour divisor if a Plaintiff was employed for only part of any year; the 12 Certificate Incentive and Cash-in-Lieu damages were calculated only through 13 April 2021, when the City updated its pay practices to include those items in the 14 regular rate used to calculate overtime; in the calculations, the Bonus was split 15 between 2018 and 2019 to reflect the work periods for which it compensated; 16 and the Cash-in-Lieu damages were doubled to account for recoverable 17 liquidated damages.<sup>36</sup> Then, Plaintiff’s per-hour values of the Certificate 18 Incentives, Bonus, and Cash-in-Lieu were added to equal the Shortage (the 19 amount that the City had used to determine the regular rate).<sup>37</sup> The Shortage 20 was applied to three different categories of overtime hours to determine 21

1 Plaintiffs' damages.<sup>38</sup> For the category of scheduled overtime hours, the 2 calculation was Number of Scheduled Overtime Hours x Shortage x 0.5 because 3 Plaintiffs had already been paid the correct regular rate for the straight time 4 portion of that time as their base salary.<sup>39</sup> For the other categories of paid
5 overtime, the calculation was Number of Paid Overtime Hours x Shortage x 6 1.5.<sup>40</sup> For the two categories of damages relating to the under-calculation of the 7 regular rate, Plaintiffs were allocated 100% of potential damages using the 8 maximum recovery period, including liquidated damages, which exceeds what 9 Plaintiffs could expect to recover in litigation.<sup>41</sup>

10 The third category of overtime (scheduled overtime hours that were not 11 paid as overtime due to the improper designation of a 14-day work period for 12 Plaintiffs working a 48/96 schedule) was calculated as follows:<sup>42</sup> Plaintiffs would 13 have averaged 6 hours of scheduled overtime in each 14-day pay period, equaling 14 156 hours of scheduled overtime each year.<sup>43</sup> However, based upon the 15 misalignment between the 48/96 Schedule and the City's designated 14-day 16 work period, the parties determined that Plaintiffs worked 330.22 hours of 17 regularly scheduled overtime during those pay periods each year but were only 18 paid for 52.14 hours, resulting in 278.08 hours of scheduled overtime worked but 19 not paid each year.<sup>44</sup> Those damages for scheduled but unpaid overtime were 20 calculated with a 0.5 multiplier "because Plaintiffs' base salaries already 1 compensated them for the straight time portion of the hours worked in excess of 2 106 hours in 14-day work period.”<sup>45</sup> Therefore, the calculation was Number of 3 Hours x (Regular Rate + Shortage) x 0.5, resulting in a maximum recovery of 4 $942,728.43 for scheduled overtime worked but not paid.<sup>46</sup> $361,970.09 was 5 allocated on a pro rata basis for those unpaid overtime damages, representing a 6 38.4% of the maximum recovery for this element of damages.<sup>47</sup>

7 Those three categories of overtime damages were totaled to determine the 8 final settlement payment to each Plaintiff.<sup>48</sup> One-half of the allocation 9 represents back pay for unpaid wages and the other half represents liquidated 10 damages.<sup>49</sup> Each Plaintiff “will receive 100% of the maximum recovery for 11 scheduled overtime hours and other categories of paid overtime, and 38.4% of 12 the maximum recovery for scheduled overtime worked but not paid.”<sup>50</sup>

13 After reviewing the record and counsel’s representations, the Court 14 concludes that Plaintiffs’ recovery in this settlement is fair and reasonable. See 15 Goddard v. City of Cathedral City, 2021 WL 8441289, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 19, 16 2021) (concluding that a net recovery of 42% was “well within the range of 17 reasonableness for wage and hour actions” in a FLSA settlement); Jones v.
18 Agilysys, Inc., 2014 WL 2090034, at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 19, 2014) (concluding 19 that a FLSA settlement, which constituted between 30% and 60% of recoverable 20 damages, was a “tangible monetary benefit” for the class members). Therefore, 21 this factor favors the approval of the Settlement Agreement.

b. Stage of Proceedings and Amount of Discovery Completed

“So long as the parties have ‘sufficient information to make an informed decision about settlement,’ this factor will weigh in favor of approval.” Selk, 159 F. Supp. 3d at 1177 (citing Linney v. Cellular Alaska P’ship, 151 F.3d 1234, 1239 (9th Cir. 1998)). “In the context of class action settlements, ‘formal discovery is not a necessary ticket to the bargaining table’ where the parties have sufficient information to make an informed decision about settlement.” Linney, 151 F.3d at 1239 (citing In re Chicken Antitrust Litig., 669 F.2d 228, 241 (5th Cir. 1982)).

In October and November 2021, the parties attended private pre-litigation mediations with the Honorable S. James Otero (Ret.).<sup>51</sup> The parties continued their efforts to resolve their issues informally through late 2022.<sup>52</sup> In August 2023, the parties exchanged further payroll and timekeeping data to prepare additional damages calculations.<sup>53</sup> The parties agree that they have sufficient information based upon the parties’ pre-litigation investigations, their exchange of potential damages calculations and initial disclosures, and consideration of the private mediator’s views to make informed decisions about settlement.<sup>54</sup>

In view of the parties’ pre-litigation investigation, informal discovery, and formal discovery, the Court concludes that the parties possess “sufficient information to make an informed decision about settlement.” Linney, 151 F.3d at 1239 (citation omitted). Therefore, this factor weighs in favor of settlement.

1                   c.       Seriousness of Litigation Risks Faced by the Parties

2           Settlement may be favored where there is “significant risk that litigation 3 might result in a lesser recover[y] for the class or no recovery at all.”

4 Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 255 (N.D. Cal. 2015).

5           Here, the parties have shown that many variables could affect Plaintiffs’ 6 recovery. For example, as stated above, if liquidated damages are denied, then 7 Plaintiffs’ range of recovery would be reduced by 50%,<sup>55</sup> and, if Brea’s method 8 for calculating FLSA liability prevails, then “Plaintiffs’ damages for 9 unscheduled overtime would be reduced approximately 70%.”<sup>56</sup> Accordingly, 10 the Court concludes that this factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement 11 Agreement.

12                   d.       Scope of Any Release Provision in the Settlement
13                   Agreement

14           “A FLSA release should not go beyond the specific FLSA claims at issue 15 in the lawsuit itself.” Slezak v. City of Palo Alto, 2017 WL 2688224, at *4 (N.D.
16 Cal. June 22, 2017). Here, the Settlement Agreement contains the following 17 Release of Claims:

18           PLAINTIFFS understand that their acceptance of the TOTAL 19 SETTLEMENT PAYMENT constitutes a full and complete 20 settlement of all of their claims relating to the ACTION against the 21 CITY under the FLSA and memorandum of understanding between 22 the City and BFA in regard to overtime pay that may exist or have 23 existed during the Relevant Statutory Period, including all claims 24 made in the ACTION for unpaid overtime, liquidated damages, 25 interest, and attorneys’ fees and costs, and PLAINTIFFS hereby 26

27 <sup>55</sup> Yee Declaration ¶ 11(c).

28 <sup>56</sup> Mastagni Declaration ¶ 32(1).

1 fully, finally, and completely release, waive, and discharge the CITY, 2 and its officers, agents, employees, successors and assigns from any 3 further claims under the FLSA and memorandum of understanding 4 between the CITY and BFA for anything that has occurred during 5 the applicable Relevant Statutory Period (“RELEASED 6 CLAIMS”).

7 All PARTIES to this AGREEMENT understand that this release 8 extends only to all grievances, disputes, or claims of every nature and 9 kind, known or unknown, suspected or unsuspected, arising from or 10 attributable to PLAINTIFFS’ claims that the CITY violated the 11 FLSA. The PARTIES understand that this release does not include 12 claims relating to conduct or activity that does not arise from or is 13 not attributable to PLAINTIFFS’ FLSA overtime claims. The 14 PARTIES understand that this is a compromise settlement of 15 disputed claims, and that nothing herein shall be deemed or 16 construed at any time or for any purpose as an admission of the 17 merits of any claim or defense.

18 The PARTIES further acknowledge that any and all rights granted 19 them under section 1542 of the California Civil Code are hereby 20 expressly waived regarding PLAINTIFFS’ FLSA claims during the 21 Relevant Statutory Period but not as to any other claims.
22 Section 1542 of the California Civil Code provides as follows:

23 A GENERAL RELEASE DOES NOT EXTEND 24 TO CLAIMS THAT THE CREDITOR OR 25 RELEASING PARTY DOES NOT KNOW OR 26 SUSPECT TO EXIST IN HIS OR HER FAVOR
27 AT THE TIME OF EXECUTING THE RELEASE
28 AND THAT, IF KNOWN BY HIM OR HER,

WOULD HAVE MATERIALLY AFFECTED HIS OR HER SETTLEMENT WITH THE DEBTOR
OR RELEASED PARTY.<sup>57</sup>

The parties assert that that release is “narrowly-tailored and carefully drawn.”<sup>58</sup> The Court agrees. Thus, this factor favors the approval of the settlement.

e. Experience and Views of Counsel and Opinions of Participating Plaintiffs

“In determining whether a settlement is fair and reasonable, ‘[t]he opinions of counsel should be given considerable weight both because of counsel’s familiarity with th[e] litigation and previous experience with cases.’” Selk, 159 F. Supp. 3d at 1176 (citing Larsen v. Trader Joe’s Co., 2014 WL 3404531, *5 (N.D. Cal. Jul. 11, 2014)).

Here, Plaintiffs’ counsel has over “twenty years of experience litigating wage and hour and employment law matters,” and he has “litigated and settled numerous lawsuits alleging violations of the” FLSA.<sup>59</sup> Brea’s counsel has practiced law for 18 years and he has “developed an expertise” regarding the FLSA, providing FLSA advice and counsel to numerous California public agencies and training public agencies on their obligations under the FLSA.<sup>60</sup>

Counsel’s extensive experience supports approving the Settlement Agreement. However, there is insufficient evidence regarding the opinions of the participating plaintiffs of the settlement. Therefore, this factor weighs only slightly in favor of approval.

1                   f. Possibility of Fraud or Collusion

2           Here, the parties assert that they conducted settlement negotiations at 3 arms-length.<sup>61</sup> During their initial settlement discussions, the parties used a 4 third-party mediator.<sup>62</sup> Each individual Plaintiff had a “full and fair opportunity 5 to consult with Plaintiffs’ counsel regarding the terms of the proposed 6 settlement.”<sup>63</sup> As of the date of the Mastagni Declaration, “all 43 plaintiffs have 7 returned their fully executed Settlement Agreement and Release Individual 8 Signature Page.”<sup>64</sup>

9           Based upon that information, the Court finds no evidence that the 10 Settlement resulted from fraud or collusion. Accordingly, this final factor also 11 weighs in favor of settlement.

12                   3. Conclusion Regarding Fairness and Reasonableness

13           In view of the facts and relevant law, the Court concludes that every 14 factor weighs in favor of approving the Settlement Agreement. Accordingly, the 15 Settlement Agreement is a fair and reasonable resolution of bona fide disputes 16 between the parties in this FLSA action.

17                   B. Approval of Attorney’s Fees

18           “Where a proposed settlement of FLSA claims includes the payment of 19 attorney’s fees, the court must also assess the reasonableness of the fee award.” 20 Selk, 159 F. Supp. 3d at 1180 (citation omitted). “Where a settlement produces 21 a common fund for the benefit of the entire class, courts may employ either the 22 lodestar method or percentage-of-recovery method to determine a reasonable 23 attorney’s fee.” Id. The Ninth Circuit “encourage[s] courts to guard against an

1 unreasonable result by cross-checking their calculations against a second 2 method.” In re Bluetooth Headset Prod. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 944 (9th Cir.
3 2011). Accordingly, the Court applies the percentage-of-the-common-fund 4 method and then cross-checks the attorney’s fee award with the lodestar 5 method.

6 1. Percentage of the Common Fund Method

7 “Under the percentage of the fund method, the court may award class 8 counsel a given percentage of the common fund recovered for the class.” 9 Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 260 (N.D. Cal. 2015). The 10 Ninth Circuit has “established a 25 percent ‘benchmark’ in percentage-of-the-11 fund cases that can be ‘adjusted upward or downward to account for any 12 unusual circumstances involved in [the] case.’” Fischel v. Equitable Life Assur.
13 Soc’y of U.S., 307 F.3d 997, 1006 (9th Cir. 2002) (citing Paul, Johnson, Alston & 14 Hunt v. Graulity, 886 F.2d 268, 272 (9th Cir. 1989)).

15 The Settlement Agreement allocates $190,176 to Plaintiffs’ counsel as an 16 attorney’s fees award, which sum represents 22.7% of the total settlement 17 amount of $837,500.<sup>65</sup> That award is consistent with the benchmark for 18 attorney’s fees in common fund cases. See Rodriguez v. Danell Custom 19 Harvesting, LLC, 327 F.R.D. 375, 392 (E.D. Cal. 2018) (“The usual range for 20 common fund attorney fees are between twenty to thirty percent.”). Still, the 21 Court will crosscheck that award with the lodestar method.

22 2. Lodestar Method

23 “Under the lodestar method, the court multiplies a reasonable number of 24 hours by a reasonable hourly rate.” Fischel, 307 F.3d at 1006. The Court must 25 use reasonable hourly rates of lawyers in the community in which the district 26 court sits. See Camacho v. Bridgeport Fin., Inc., 523 F.3d 973, 979 (9th Cir.

27
28 <sup>65</sup> Motion 27:14-16; Mastagni Declaration ¶ 61.

2008). The party seeking to establish that certain hourly rates are reasonable may do so by submitting affidavits of counsel, affidavits of other counsel in the relevant community, and by providing examples from past cases of the relevant community rate. See id. at 980-81. A “district court has wide latitude in determining the number of hours that were reasonably expended.” Sorenson v. Mink, 239 F.3d 1140, 1146 (9th Cir. 2001). The district court should exclude time entries that are “excessive, redundant, or otherwise unnecessary.” Gonzalez v. City of Maywood, 729 F.3d 1196, 1202 (9th Cir. 2013) (citing McCown v. City of Fontana, 565 F.3d 1097, 1102 (9th Cir. 2008)).

Plaintiffs’ counsel itemized the work that they performed in this case as follows: David E. Mastagni (Partner) performed 136.3 hours of work; Taylor Davies-Mahaffey (Associate) performed 124.1 hours of work; Other Associates performed 35 hours of work; and paralegals and support staff performed 83.14 hours of work.<sup>66</sup> The Court concludes that those hours are reasonable, in view of the informal and formal discovery taken and the stipulations reached between the parties.

Plaintiffs’ counsel contends that those fees are reasonable when compared to the 2022 Real Rate Report.<sup>67</sup> “To determine reasonable hourly rates for partners, associates, and paralegals, numerous courts in this District and elsewhere have turned to the annual Real Rate Report as a helpful guide.” Sarabia v. Ricoh USA, Inc., 2023 WL 3432160, at *8 (C.D. Cal. May 1, 2023) (collecting cases). The 2022 Real Rate Report provides that for Los Angeles area attorneys working in the “Employment and Labor” practice area, the 2022 average for partners is $743, the 2022 average for associates is $446, and the 2022 average for paralegals is $247. See id. (citing the 2022 Real Rate Report).

1 Applying those rates to the hours worked in this case, Plaintiffs' counsel's 2 attorneys' fee would equal $192,765.08, which is above Plaintiffs' counsel's 3 awarded fee through the settlement agreement.<sup>68</sup> Accordingly, the Court 4 concludes that Plaintiffs' counsel's awarded fee of $190,176 is reasonable.
5 Additionally, the Court concludes that the $19,199 award of costs to Plaintiffs is 6 reasonable.

7 IV. DISPOSITION

8 For the foregoing reasons, the Court hereby ORDERS as follows:

9 1. The parties' joint motion for approval of the FLSA settlement is 10 GRANTED.

11 2. The parties are DIRECTED to perform their settlement 12 obligations in accordance with the terms set forth in the Settlement Agreement.

13 3. Plaintiffs' counsel is AWARDED $190,176 in attorney's fees, and 14 Plaintiffs are AWARDED $19,199 in costs.

15 4. The Court retains exclusive jurisdiction over the action for all 16 matters relating to the litigation, including the administration, interpretation 17 effectuation, or enforcement of the Settlement Agreement and this Order.

18 5. This action is DISMISSED with prejudice.
